Boston Road: NYC Supportive Housing Residence

Boston Road is one of the first NYC supportive housing residence to begin construction using NYS Medicaid Redesign capital funding. This project will bring 154 units of supportive housing to the Bronx and provide housing and services to a mix of low-income and formerly homeless individuals and seniors. I'm glad this video was shared as it is a powerful demonstration of how secure housing can dramatically improve one's life. As mentioned in the video, chronic conditions cannot be managed through emergency rooms, which is typically the only place where homeless individuals receive any healthcare. It is so important to address the housing needs of those in NYS to improve our healthcare system. In addition to finding housing, it is just as important to engage the individual in the healthcare/Medicaid system as it is very likely that these individuals are uninsured. This can be accomplished through outreach and care coordination. I look forward to hearing some of the ideas that folks in this group have on housing solutions.
