

Health Homes and DSRIP

Is it the intent of the state to have DSRIP partner with Health Homes to provide Case Management Services or are you encouraging the development of an additional Care Management Program by the DSRIP PPS?

Question by Mary Jo Muscolino
On march 16, 2015 at 15:32 - 45 views, 2 replies, 3 followers

1

Health Homes are critical partners in PPSs to provide care management for identified high risk Medicaid recipients meeting Health Home criteria and needing assistance to meet and access these recipients' medical, behavioral and community needs. PPSs have been required to include Health Homes for this purpose. It is likely, however, that the PPS will utilized other care/case management services as needed. For example, within a patient centered medical home, a patient receiving a new complex diagnosis may receive case management services to organize the care needed for that diagnosis. A high risk pregnant woman may receive support from Nurse Family Partnership or Community Health Worker during and after the pregnancy to address pregnancy and childcare issues. The PPS, based upon its community needs assessment, should have a good understanding of the unmet community needs, have chosen projects to address those needs, and develop/arrange the resources to meet identified care/case management needs within those projects.

By Lynda Hohmann, 11 months ago

0

Mary Jo - you might find it useful to check out the materials from the webinar on DSRIP and Health Homes at: https://www.health.ny.gov/health_care/medicaid/redesign/dsrip/webinars_presentation/ . As Lynda mentioned, Health Homes are critical to acheiving DSRIP success and helping to coordinate care to better prevent avoidable hospitalizations for many individuals. Project 2.a.iii targets case management for those who may not be eligible for Health Home but still leverages the Health Home model as well as the PCMH model. Several PPS selected this project. To get a better idea of how the PPS plan to implement this project, it would be helpful to check out the Project Plan Applications at the following link: https://www.health.ny.gov/health_care/medicaid/redesign/dsrip/pps_applications/

By Alyssa Slezak, 11 months ago

0

Reply to this contribution...